Pursuant to FRAP 5 and 28 U.S.C. § 1453(c), Defendant-Petitioner Pfizer Inc. requests leave to appeal the May 10, 2018 Order of the Central District of California (Carney, J.) remanding this coordinated proceeding of more than 4,300 Plaintiffs to state court (“Remand Order,” Ex. A).

QUESTION PRESENTED

This Petition presents the following question: can a state court’s sua sponte request that claims be added to a California coordinated proceeding trigger removal under the mass action provisions of the Class Action Fairness Act (CAFA)? This Court has previously determined that where plaintiffs make such a request, the claims are “proposed to be tried jointly” and thus removable as a mass action. Corber v. Xanodyne Pharms., Inc., 771 F.3d 1218 (9th Cir. 2014) (en banc). Last year, this Court granted review in Alexander v. Bayer, 17-55828, to decide a related question it raised in two prior cases: whether “a proposal by a state court for a joint trial would qualify as a ‘proposal’” under CAFA. Briggs v. Merck Sharp & Dohme, 796 F.3d 1038, 1048 (9th Cir. 2015) (emphasis added); Tanoh v. Dow. Chem. Co., 561 F.3d 945, 956 (9th Cir. 2009). However, Alexander was dismissed by agreement before a decision.

This Petition presents an opportunity to decide what Alexander left open. The district court held categorically that a court’s “order” can never be a “proposal,” and therefore remanded more than 4,300 Lipitor claims that the Los Angeles Superior Court asked to be joined to a coordinated proceeding. Remand Order at 6-8. This Court should review and reverse.

RELIEF SOUGHT

The Court should grant review, answer the question presented in the affirmative, and reverse the decision below.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

Pfizer previously removed these cases, in which some 4,300 Plaintiffs from around the country allege the development of type 2 diabetes due to Lipitor, based on Plaintiffs' actions seeking joinder to the California Lipitor coordination, JCCP 4761. Pfizer contended the claims of more than 100 persons were thereby "proposed to be tried jointly," thus triggering removal under CAFA's mass action provisions. 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)(11). The district court agreed that, under this Court's decision in Corber, a proposal to join the "all purposes" Lipitor coordination was a proposal for joint trial for CAFA purposes. In re Pfizer, 2017 WL 2257635, at *6 (C.D. Cal. May 23, 2017). However, it remanded because it found that less than 100 Plaintiffs had made such a proposal. Id. at *1.

On remand, Plaintiffs tried to avoid proposing coordination, but judges of the Los Angeles Superior Court sua sponte requested these cases be joined to the Lipitor coordination. See Remand Order at 5-6. Pfizer removed again on that basis. However, the district court again remanded, holding not only that a state-court order cannot be a proposal, but that proposed inclusion in the same Lipitor coordination was not a proposal for joint trial. Id. at 7-10. Pfizer now seeks review.

A. Pfizer Removes the California Lipitor Cases

The Lipitor coordination was created based on a plaintiff request to coordinate all Lipitor cases in California before “[o]ne judge ... for all purposes” to “avoid duplicative and inconsistent rulings, orders, and judgments” on a variety of issues. In re Pfizer, 2017 WL 2257635, at *1. Other Plaintiffs took various actions to join cases to that proceeding, including identifying nearly 2,000 claims to the coordination judge; submitting a proposed order to join “[a]ll cases” to the proceeding; and identifying the coordinated proceeding in their captions, civil cover sheets, and notices of related cases. See id. at *2-3, 7. Based on those actions, Pfizer contended the claims of more than 100 persons were “proposed to be tried jointly,” and removed all of these cases as a “mass action” under CAFA. 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)(11). Plaintiffs moved to remand.

B. The District Court Remands the Cases

The district court agreed with Pfizer, and this Court in Corber, that a proposal to join a coordinated proceeding was a proposal for joint trial. 2017 WL 2257635, at *5. “The language of the amended petition and supporting documents is substantially similar to that in Corber,” which this Court held constituted a proposal for joint trial. Id. (citing Corber, 771 F.3d 1218). As in Corber, Plaintiffs here had requested “coordination ‘for all purposes’” and to avoid “inconsistent judgments and conflicting determinations of liability,” which “supported the conclusion that they sought a joint trial.” Id. However, the district court granted remand because it held that “[o]nly the sixty-five plaintiffs who were named in the amended coordination petition or add-on petitions” had proposed joint trial, such that CAFA’s 100-plaintiff numerosity requirement was not met. Id. at *6. Pfizer sought leave to appeal, which was denied. See Abrams v. Pfizer Inc., 17-80094 (9th Cir. Nov. 17, 2017).

C. On Remand, Plaintiffs Avoid Seeking Coordination

Following remand, these cases were assigned to over 30 different judges in Los Angeles Superior Court and other counties. Because of the district court’s holding that a petition to join the coordination would constitute a proposal for joint trial, Plaintiffs unsuccessfully attempted to achieve coordination by other means.

First, Plaintiffs requested that the coordination judge amend the procedure for adding cases to clarify that any additions were for pretrial purposes only, since CAFA exempts such proceedings from mass action removal. See 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)(11)(B)(ii)(IV); see also Proposed Am. Order re Add-On Procedures (Ex. B). Pfizer opposed, and the coordination trial judge (Kuhl, J.) denied Plaintiffs’ motion. Judge Kuhl explained that while she had no “stake in how the federal courts interpret CAFA,” for purposes of California law, “[t]he shape of a coordinated proceeding is set when the coordination motion judge determines that cases should be coordinated pursuant to the California rules.” See Minute Order at 3-4, Lipitor Cases, JCCP 4761 (Aug. 4, 2017) (Ex. C).

Judge Kuhl observed that, while a single trial of all claims may not ultimately occur, “California law contemplates that cases will be coordinated for all purposes, not merely for pretrial proceedings.” Id. at 4-5 (citing Cal. Code. Civ. P. § 404.1). Thus, she could not grant coordination for pre-trial purposes only, and Plaintiffs’ motion so requesting was denied.

Second, Plaintiffs then asked the coordination judge to relate 62 cases in which a Notice of Related Case had been filed. See Pls.’ Mot. re Related Cases (Ex. D). Plaintiffs said they would also ask the California Judicial Council to limit the scope of the coordination, but because “it is not certain that the Judicial Council will grant the forthcoming petition,” they asked Judge Kuhl to utilize California’s related cases procedure instead. Id. at 2. Judge Kuhl denied Plaintiffs’ request, explaining that the related cases procedure was “inapplicable,” in part because a coordinated proceeding had been established. See Minute Order at 2, Lipitor Cases, JCCP 4761 (Nov. 21, 2017) (Ex. E). Plaintiffs ultimately never moved the California Judicial Council to amend the scope of the Lipitor coordination.

D. California Courts Request Coordination Sua Sponte

Following Plaintiffs’ unsuccessful efforts to create de facto coordination, the Los Angeles Superior Court acted on its own.

First, the Hon. Debre K. Weintraub, the Supervising Judge of the Civil Department of the Los Angeles County Superior Court, entered a document captioned as a “Request.” See Request, Lipitor Cases, JCCP 4761 (Cal. Sup. Ct. Nov. 17, 2017) (Ex. F). That “Request” asked that the 62 actions Plaintiffs sought to relate be added to the coordination. See id. The “Request” was made pursuant to Cal. Code. Civ. P. § 404.4, which provides that “[t]he presiding judge of any court in which there is pending an action sharing a common question of fact or law with actions coordinated pursuant to Section 404, on the court’s own motion ... may request the judge assigned to hear the coordinated actions for an order coordinating the action.” See id. at 1 (emphasis added). Judge Weintraub explained that, although no party had requested the cases be added on, “it would be extremely burdensome for the Los Angeles Superior Court to handle the cases ... individually and outside of a coordinated proceeding.” Id. at 3. Accordingly, she requested that Judge Kuhl “add the cases ... to the Lipitor JCCP, after notice and hearing.” Id.

Second, three days later, Judge Kuhl entered an Order stating that the parties had 10 days to “serve and submit a notice of opposition to [Judge Weintraub’s] Request.” See Order, Lipitor Cases, JCCP 4761 (Nov. 20, 2017) (Ex. G). Pfizer did not respond. Plaintiffs, however, filed a response that did not oppose, but instead stated that “Judge Weintraub’s request included only a partial list of all pending California state court Lipitor cases” and attached a list of 81 additional cases involving thousands of additional Plaintiffs that shared “common questions of fact and law with the cases identified in Judge Weintraub's request but were not included in that request." See Pls.' Notice (Ex. H)

Judge Kuhl then issued an Order granting Judge Weintraub's Request. Order, Lipitor Cases, JCCP 4761 (Dec. 15, 2017) (Ex. I). In that Order, Judge Kuhl "note[d]" Plaintiffs' "listing" of additional cases, and asked the parties to address whether additional pending Lipitor cases not already part of the coordination could be added without a request from Judge Weintraub. Id. at 2. The parties agreed that Judge Kuhl, "sua sponte, may add on th[e] coordinated proceeding cases that raise similar issues involving the drug Lipitor." Order, Lipitor Cases, JCCP 4761 (Jan. 30, 2018) (Ex. J) (emphasis added). Judge Kuhl then sua sponte ordered that an additional 88 cases, involving thousands of plaintiffs, be added to the Lipitor coordination. Order, Lipitor Cases, JCCP 4761 (Jan. 30, 2018) (Ex. K).

E. The District Court Again Remands the Cases

Pfizer then removed the entire Lipitor coordination to federal court, contending that the California Superior Court's sua sponte actions coordinating the cases had now satisfied the numerosity requirement imposed by the district court's prior order. Notice of Removal (Ex. L). The district court entered a briefing schedule and a hearing date for Plaintiffs' motion to remand. Order re: Briefing Schedule (Ex. M). However, it granted remand before the hearing, based primarily on an argument that Plaintiffs raised for the first time in their reply brief.

First, the district court held that “a state court’s sua sponte order cannot ‘propose’ a joint trial to trigger mass action jurisdiction.” Remand Order at 8. Without addressing the substance of the documents issued by the California Superior Court, the district court held that a court order cannot be a proposal because it is “a command or direction authoritatively given,” not “an offer to be accepted or rejected.” Id. (quoting Black’s Law Dictionary online (2nd ed.)).

Second, the district court found that, while a request by Plaintiffs to coordinate cases for all purposes proposed joint trial, the requests by the state courts for the same thing did not. Remand Order at 9-10. The district court based this conclusion on what it deemed Plaintiffs’ purported “desire to coordinate their cases ... for pretrial purposes only,” and Judge Kuhl’s “deep skepticism that the cases here would be jointly tried.” Id. The district court did not address either Judge Weintraub’s request or Judge Kuhl’s observation that “California law contemplates that cases will be coordinated for all purposes, not merely for pretrial proceedings.” Minute Order at 4 (Ex. C) (emphasis added).

Pfizer now timely petitions for leave to appeal.

REASONS FOR GRANTING REVIEW

I. THIS PETITION PRESENTS AN IMPORTANT CAFA ISSUE THAT THIS COURT HAS PREVIOUSLY DEEMED WORTHY OF REVIEW

plaintiffs formally ask to join it by filing add on petitions, but not if a court sua sponte adds cases that plaintiffs agree belong in the coordination. On its face, this draconian result is contrary to CAFA’s “primary objective”—never mentioned in the district court’s order—of “ensuring ‘Federal court consideration of interstate cases of national importance.’” Standard Fire Ins. Co. v. Knowles, 133 S. Ct. 1345, 1350 (2013). As this Court has explained, “Congress and the Supreme Court have instructed us to interpret CAFA’s provisions ... broadly in favor of removal.” Jordan v. Nationstar Mortg. LLC, 781 F.3d 1178, 1184 (9th Cir. 2015) (emphasis added). The incongruous outcomes from the district court, in contrast, evince the “antiremoval presumption” that the Supreme Court has expressly directed courts to discard. Dart Cherokee Basin Operating Co., LLC v. Owens, 135 S.Ct. 547, 554 (2014).

Because CAFA is a favored basis of removal, orders to remand actions removed under CAFA are excepted from the general rule against appellate review of remand orders. See 28 U.S.C. § 1447(d). A court of appeals therefore may grant a timely application to review the remand of cases removed under CAFA. Id. § 1453(c). The “key factor” in determining whether to grant review is the presence of an important issue concerning CAFA. Coleman v. Estes Express Lines, Inc., 627 F.3d 1096, 1100 (9th Cir. 2010). This Court has already acknowledged the importance of the question presented by this Petition in granting review in Alexander. Since that question was not answered in Alexander, review is even more important here to resolve the issue of federal jurisdiction as to these thousands of Plaintiffs. The Petition should be granted.

A. The Court Should Review Whether a State Court May Propose Joint Trial Within the Meaning of CAFA

1. Review Should Be Granted to Decide the Question Left Open by Alexander

This Court should grant review to decide a question that it, and several other courts of appeals, have raised but never resolved: whether a sua sponte state court order can serve as a “proposal” that triggers mass action removal under CAFA. This Court has noted that possibility for nearly a decade, observing that a “state court’s sua sponte joinder of claims might allow a defendant to remove separately filed actions to a federal court as a single ‘mass action’ under CAFA.” Tanoh, 561 F.3d at 956. More recently, this Court noted that “[i]t is possible that a proposal by a state court for a joint trial would qualify as a ‘proposal.’” Briggs, 796 F.3d at 1048. In Alexander, this Court granted review to decide the question it had identified in Tanoh and Briggs, but the appeal was dismissed before a decision was issued. This Petition now presents the appropriate vehicle to definitively resolve the question left open by Alexander.

A decision on this issue will not only answer an acknowledged open question in this Circuit, but will also provide guidance to the other courts of appeals. The Tenth Circuit, like this Court, has similarly noted that CAFA “does not specify who can make such a proposal—the plaintiffs only, or the district court through an order of consolidation or coordination.” Parson v. Johnson & Johnson, 749 F.3d 879, 887 (10th Cir. 2014). Likewise, the Eleventh Circuit has observed that CAFA’s plenary grant of mass action jurisdiction “must be referring to a proposal made by the plaintiff, by the defendant, or perhaps by the state court acting sua sponte.” Scimone v. Carnival Corp., 720 F.3d 876, 881 (11th Cir. 2013). Only one court of appeals, the Seventh Circuit, has “assume[d]” to the contrary, in dicta without analysis. Koral v. Boeing Co., 628 F.3d 945, 946 (7th Cir. 2011). This Petition thus presents the opportunity to decide what has previously been only assumed or suggested. Review should therefore be granted.

2. The Statutory Language Supports Removal Based on Sua Sponte State-Court Proposals

Not only does this Petition present an important CAFA-related question, but there is substantial doubt as to whether the district court’s resolution of that question was correct. The language and structure of CAFA reflect that Congress contemplated mass action removal based on state-court proposals. The Supreme Court has long admonished that “in interpreting a statute a court should turn first to one, cardinal canon before all others”—it “must presume that a legislature says in a statute what it means and means in a statute what it says there.” Connecticut Nat’l Bank v. Germain, 503 U.S. 249, 253-54 (1992). CAFA defines “mass action” to include “any” case in which 100 or more claims “are proposed to be tried jointly.” 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)(11)(B)(i) (emphasis added). By using the passive voice—“are proposed to be tried jointly”—Congress evinced an “agnosticism ... about who does the [prescribed action].” Watson v. United States, 552 U.S. 74, 81 (2007). The passive voice indicates that “[i]t is whether something happened—not how or why it happened—that matters.” Dean v. United States, 556 U.S. 568, 572 (2009).

The significance of that agnosticism is further clarified by the one limit Congress did place on the source of the proposal: it cannot come from the defendant. 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)(11)(B)(ii)(II). Having specifically excepted only one source of proposal as a potential mass action trigger, Congress logically left all other sources of proposal available, including proposals by state courts. “Where Congress includes particular language in one section of a statute but omits it in another section of the same Act, it is generally presumed that Congress acted intentionally and purposely in the disparate inclusion or exclusion.” Russello v. United States, 464 U.S. 16, 23 (1983) (quotation omitted). To read in another unwritten exception to the mass action provision would do violence to CAFA’s plain language and subvert its purpose in favor of removal. See Jordan, 781 F.3d at 1184. “Where Congress explicitly enumerates certain exceptions to a general prohibition, additional exceptions are not to be implied, in the absence of evidence of a contrary legislative intent.” TRW v. Andrews, 534 U.S. 19, 28 (2001). If a statute already contains an explicit exception, “the familiar judicial maxim expressio unius est exclusio alterius counsels against finding additional, implied, exceptions.” Syed v. M-I, LLC, 853 F.3d 492, 501 (9th Cir. 2017). The statute “would have to be rewritten in order to carry [Plaintiffs’] meaning.” Cassirer v. Kingdom of Spain, 616 F.3d 1019, 1028 (9th Cir. 2010).

“When the statute’s language is plain, the sole function of the courts—at least where the disposition required by the text is not absurd—is to enforce it according to its terms.” Tanoh, 561 F.3d at 953 (quotation omitted). There is no such absurdity here—to the contrary, CAFA quite sensibly allows removal of large, interstate joint-trial proceedings, whether proposed by plaintiffs or by the court, since the source of the proposal makes no difference to the federal interest in “ensuring ‘Federal court consideration of interstate cases of national importance.’” Knowles, 133 S. Ct. at 1350. At the same time, CAFA understandably disallows removal based on a defendant’s self-serving proposal, lest the plaintiffs become “servants of defendants’ litigation strategy.” Briggs, 796 F.3d at 1049; accord Tanoh, 561 F.3d at 954. Under this clear policy rationale and clearer statutory language, mass action removal was well supported here.

3. The District Court Erred in Categorically Holding That a Court Cannot Make a Proposal

The district court held that a court's order can never be a proposal because an order is "a command or direction authoritatively given," not "an offer to be accepted or rejected." Remand Order at 8 (quoting Black's Law Dictionary online (2nd ed.)). Yet the district court reached this conclusion without evaluating any of the actions of the California Superior Court advanced by Pfizer as bases for removal. This alone was contrary to CAFA's liberal construction as applied by this Court, which has instructed that a court evaluating mass action jurisdiction must consider "the real substance" of an alleged proposal, rather than its formalities. Corber, 771 F.3d at 1225. Mass action jurisdiction exists, then, where the "totality of the circumstances" shows that the claims of 100 or more persons have been proposed to be tried jointly. Id. at 1220.

Had the district court "carefully assess[ed] ... whether, in language or substance" claims have been proposed to be tried jointly, id. at 1223, it would readily have found that the California Superior Court made "proposals" here. Indeed, the initial sua sponte action of Judge Weintraub was not an order at all, but was in fact explicitly captioned as a "Request." (Ex. F). Contrary to the district court's categorical holding that a court can only issue orders, California procedure in fact specifically provides for the ability of "[t]he presiding judge of any court" to "request the judge assigned to hear the coordinated actions for an order coordinating the action.” See id. at 1 (quoting Cal. Code. Civ. P. § 404.4) (emphasis added). If this “request” was not a “proposal,” it is unclear what is. Yet the district court failed to address it at all.

Likewise, the “totality of the circumstances” shows that Judge Kuhl’s orders were also proposals within the meaning of CAFA. Corber, 771 F.3d at 1223. Initially, the district court’s grudging interpretation that says an order is not a proposal because it is mandatory is contrary to the liberal construction to be afforded to CAFA. See Dart Cherokee Basin, 135 S.Ct. at 554. Indeed, to the extent there is any substantive difference between an order for joint trial and a proposal for joint trial, that difference should cut in favor of jurisdiction, not against it. The federal interest in large interstate proceedings is even more substantial where joint trial is compelled than where it is merely requested.

Even more important here, focusing on the status of Judge Kuhl’s actions as “orders” obscures “the real substance” of what Judge Kuhl ordered. That is, Judge Kuhl suggested that adding the cases at issue was warranted, and then ordered the parties to respond with any opposition (which Plaintiffs declined to offer in their response). (Ex. G; Ex. I.) This too constitutes a proposal—an offering “for consideration, discussion, acceptance, or adoption,” Briggs, 796 F.3d at 1048 (quotation omitted)—which the district court erroneously held could never come from a court. And as with Judge Weintraub’s Request, California law specifically contemplates Judge Kuhl’s approach (see Cal. R. Ct. 3.544), again refuting the district court’s conclusion that courts cannot propose.

The only case cited by the district court that rejected removal based on a state-court proposal is distinguishable on these very grounds. In Alexander v. Bayer Corp., 2016 WL 6678917 (C.D. Cal. Nov. 14, 2016), as to which this Court granted review, the district court rejected removal because the state court “did not propose consolidation and then ask for the parties’ thoughts or responses.” Id. at *2. Here, in contrast, that is precisely what happened: the supervising judge issued a “Request” to Judge Kuhl that she add on 62 cases, subject to the notice and hearing requirements of Cal. R. Ct. 3.544, and Judge Kuhl then provided the parties with an opportunity to object. Plaintiffs not only failed to object, they affirmatively identified other cases that Judge Kuhl should coordinate. Pfizer noted this distinction to the district court as well, but the district court did not address it.

4. The “Master of the Complaint” Principle Does Not Apply

Plaintiffs’ only remaining argument, which they abandoned in their reply brief in the district court, was that to allow mass action removal based on sua sponte proposals would be “at odds with the well-settled principle that plaintiffs are masters of their complaints and remain free to structure them so as to avoid [federal] jurisdiction.” Mot. at 19 (Ex. N). That principle in no way precludes removal here.

The notion that plaintiffs are “masters of the complaint” is not an ironclad rule of jurisdiction, but rather a tautology used to express that where removal is based on the content of a plaintiffs’ pleadings, that content defines the limits of removal. Thus, for example, in Briggs, the plaintiffs specifically disclaimed a proposal for joint trial, and this Court held that removal was not proper because plaintiffs were “masters of their complaints.” Briggs, 796 F.3d at 1049. In contrast, in Corber, where the plaintiffs sought coordination “for all purposes” and to avoid “inconsistent judgments,” this Court found subject matter jurisdiction pursuant to CAFA, observing that the plaintiffs were “masters of their petitions for coordination,” and therefore were held “responsible for what they have said and done.” 771 F.3d at 1223.

The “master of the complaint” principle does not, however, mean what Plaintiffs suggest: that no case can become removable except by the affirmative action of the plaintiff. Indeed, Congress has repeatedly conferred removal jurisdiction based on actions of other parties not contemplated or authorized by the plaintiff. These removal mechanisms include, for example, the federal officer removal statute, 28 U.S.C. § 1442; Durham v. Lockheed Martin Corp., 445 F.3d 1247 (9th Cir. 2006); the Westfall Act, 28 U.S.C. § 2679(d)(1); Wilson v. Drake, 87 F.3d 1073 (9th Cir. 1996); the bankruptcy removal statute, 28 U.S.C. § 1452; Security Farms v. Int’l Bhd. of Teamsters, 124 F.3d 999 (9th Cir. 1997); and the federal contract claims removal statute. 28 U.S.C. § 1346(a)(2); Olivier Plantation, LLC v. St. Bernard Parish, 744 F. Supp. 2d 575 (E.D. La. 2010). Congress has thus frequently authorized removal of actions based on litigation events completely outside of plaintiffs' control, and was free to do so with CAFA's mass action provisions.

B. A Proposal to Join the Lipitor Coordination Is a Proposal for Joint Trial, No Matter the Source

In its prior remand order, the district court held that a petition to join the Lipitor coordination was a proposal for joint trial. In re Pfizer, 2017 WL 2257635, at *4-5. Yet with respect to the court actions here that would have identical effect to an add-on petition to join the coordination, the district court reached the opposite result. Specifically, it held there was no proposal for joint trial because Judge Kuhl observed that a single joint trial of thousands of Plaintiffs' claims was unlikely. See Remand Order at 9-10. This too was error.

First, the district court only addressed certain of Judge Kuhl's statements, and ignored the "Request" issued by Judge Weintraub. Even if Judge Kuhl's statements about what might occur were relevant (and for the reasons that follow they are not), they are irrelevant to Judge Weintraub's proposal to add cases to the Lipitor coordination. Under both Corber and the district court's own prior ruling in this case, a proposal to join cases to that "all purposes" proceeding was a proposal for joint trial. See Corber, 771 F.3d at 1223; In re Pfizer, 2017 WL 2257635, at *5.

Second, the district court erroneously focused on whether joint trial “actually ensues” rather than “the statutory question [of] whether one has been proposed.” Bullard v. Burlington N. Santa Fe Ry. Co., 535 F.3d 759, 762 (7th Cir. 2008) (emphasis added). This Court rejected this position in Corber, where the plaintiffs contended—as the district court held here—that they had not proposed joint trial because joint trial was unlikely to occur. 771 F.3d at 1224 n.5. As this Court explained, “[U]nder the plain language of CAFA, we must determine whether Plaintiffs proposed a joint trial, not whether one will occur at some future date. That a judge has discretion to limit coordination to pretrial matters does not weigh on whether Plaintiffs proposed a joint trial.” Id. Because the plaintiffs had sought coordination for “all purposes” and to avoid “inconsistent judgments,” they had necessarily proposed a joint trial. The same is true here with respect to the scope of the Lipitor coordination, which, as the district court previously acknowledged, is identical to Corber. See In re Pfizer, 2017 WL 2257635, at *5. As Judge Kuhl observed, “[t]he shape of a coordinated proceeding is set” at its inception, when “the coordination motion judge determines that cases should be coordinated.” (Ex. C at 4).

Third, the district court applied an untenably narrow definition of “joint trial” by focusing on the likelihood that the thousands of claims joined to the Lipitor coordination would all be tried together. As the Seventh Circuit has explained, “[t]he question is not whether 100 or more plaintiffs answer a roll call in court, but whether the ‘claims’ advanced by 100 or more persons are proposed to be tried jointly.” Bullard, 535 F.3d at 762 (emphasis added). Thus, for example, “[a] trial of 10 exemplary plaintiffs, followed by application of issue or claim preclusion to 134 more plaintiffs without another trial, is one in which the claims of 100 or more persons are being tried jointly.” Id. Once again, such procedures are specifically contemplated by California law on coordination, which provides that the coordination judge may order “trial of one or more test cases, with appropriate provision being made concerning the res judicata or collateral estoppel effects of a judgment on plaintiffs and defendants.” Ford Motor Warranty Cases, 11 Cal. App. 5th 626, 644–45 (2017). Thus, in Corber, this Court observed that plaintiffs’ desire to coordinate to avoid “inconsistent judgments and conflicting determinations of liability” could “be addressed only through some form of joint trial.” 771 F.3d at 1223-24 (emphasis added). The use of the identical language here warrants the same result.

II. ADDITIONAL CONSIDERATIONS SUPPORT REVIEW

Although the presence of an important issue concerning CAFA is the key factor in determining whether to grant review, “[t]he appellate court should also consider whether the record is sufficiently developed and the order sufficiently final to permit ‘intelligent review.’” Coleman, 627 F.3d at 1100. The “likelihood that the question will ‘evade effective review if left for consideration only after final judgment’” should be considered. Id. Finally, there is the “familiar inquiry into the balance of the harms.” Id. Each of these factors supports review here.

First, the record is fully developed, and the Remand Order is final. The parties have briefed the issue of mass action jurisdiction over four years and in multiple district courts.

Second, as this Court noted in Coleman, in a case such as this one, “[t]he probability that a state court or the Supreme Court will review the federal jurisdictional question after the merits of the case have been decided is almost non-existent.” Id. at 1101. If these cases are remanded, the state courts lack jurisdiction to decide whether CAFA jurisdiction was proper after final judgment. This appeal represents Pfizer’s only real opportunity to contest the district court’s erroneous construction of CAFA, and if permission to appeal is denied, there is a very high “likelihood that the question will ‘evade effective review.’” Id. at 1100.

Third, the balance of hardships favors granting appeal. Pfizer will be irreparably harmed absent review because, as just noted, it “will lose almost any chance of litigating this case in a federal forum if it is not allowed to appeal the remand order.” Id. at 1101. Conversely, the only harm Plaintiffs will experience if appeal is permitted is delay, which will be limited because CAFA appeals are expedited. See 28 U.S.C. § 1453(c). That delay presumably will not prejudice Plaintiffs, who have previously requested stays of litigation pending a decision on jurisdiction.

Thus, case-specific considerations also support review.

CONCLUSION

This Court should grant the Petition and reverse the Remand Order.
